

NOTES IN THE STAGE WORLD.

"Clarissa," an Adaptation of "Franklin," Produced at Palmer's.

What is Going On Among Lights of the Profession.

"Clarissa; or, A Wife's Wit," was the name given by Mrs. Rachel McAnley to an adaptation of Alexander Dumas's play, "Franklin," presented by her at Palmer's Theatre yesterday afternoon. The adapters and translators who are usually looking around with designs upon every foreign play of excellence have not dared to toy with this Dumas effort. Its outspoken views simply defied Anglo-Saxon ingenuity and it was abandoned to its fate. Mrs. McAnley came to its rescue and determined to give it a performance. Americans have accepted "La Dame aux Camellias," and every amateur tries to be a Marguerite Gautier. The play certainly has none of the brilliancy of "Franklin," none of its sparkling dialogue, and none of its exuberant wit, so that Mrs. McAnley's experiment was in reality not so daring. Her adaptation was received with a great deal of careful attention, and there is no denying the fact that "Clarissa; or, A Wife's Wit," was deeply interesting from beginning to end. There is so original in his views and he has such a delightful knack of expressing ancient axioms in modern ways that his work is a perpetual enjoyment.

The story of "Clarissa" deals with the equality of the sexes, not with the equality that the numerous "strong-minded" women of the city meet to discuss. A young wife is neglected by her husband. She becomes suspicious. A woman whom he knew before he married is discovered.

The wife determines to follow him, and when he goes to the opera hall she goes also. From the hall he goes with a feminine companion to a famous restaurant. So does she. The following day the wife confronts her husband. She takes him with infidelity and swears to him that she has also permitted herself to be untrue to him, in a spirit of revenge. The mutual friend ferrets out the truth. The young wife had not really committed herself, and a reconciliation was effected. Mrs. McAnley as the heroine did some intelligent work, but the role was not suited to her in any way. Mr. Plympton as the husband did well, and Mrs. McAnley's pupil, Miss Jeanie Dunbar, acquitted herself very creditably. "Clarissa" is neatly adapted, but a little extra polish is needed. Mrs. McAnley ought not to permit her drawing-room people to use the expression, "lady friend," which should never escape from the mouths of people of refinement.

Charles Arnold, of "Hans the Boatman" fame, lost the handsome dog that has been around the world with him the other day. There was great grief in the company. With difficulty, and $15, the animal was recovered.

Little Miss Hattie Schell, who was married a short time ago to Lieut. Godfrey S. Garden, and who retired from the stage with a great deal of determination, is going back to the world of dramatics. It is only a question of time when the ingenu will discover that private life isn't so full of laughs as that of the comedienne. Miss Schell will join "The Burglar" company next season. She gives a reason for her return to the drama. It is that her husband has been ordered to sea for three years, and she doesn't care to stay at home and mope. Miss Schell evidently believes that isn't a possible to mope "on the road," though cases have been known where the possibility might have been construed into a fact. Miss Schell is a daughter of Mr. Rainford, Little Lillian Rainford and Al. Rainman have been re-engaged for "The Burglar."

De Wolf Hopper's managers are certainly clever. In a hotel and dramatic offices yesterday were circulated neatly enveloped papers containing "De Wolf Hopper's tips for the Brooklyn Handicap race." They were Sir Dixon, Los Angeles and Baden. After the tips for the Brooklyn Handicap race, they made the hit of his life, etc., says he thinks the above looks like a winning combination. "If you do not win go and see Hopper." "If you do win the odds are 10 to 1 you will be there." Oh, De Wolf!

It is said that Manager Rosenquist paid $25,000 for David Henderson's rights in "The City Directory" and "Easy Street."

There is some talk of Miss Clara Louise Thompson, the actress, being married to the knight of Tyburn, appearing as Josephine to the Napoleon of Percy Hunting at a matinee shortly.

Edwin A. Pratt, the little lawyer, has become wonderfully overate. He is now the treasurer of the De Wolf Hopper Opera House company (he is not a member, but comes to the opera and represents the Andrews Comic Opera company) comic opera, remember, not opera buffo, now at Fort. Hill. Mr. Pratt has engaged Miss Laura Bellini for the Andrews organization.

SENSATION ON THE BOWERY.

Dull Times Cause a Big Drop in the Price of Clothing.

It is a bleak and wintry day when the London & Liverpool Clothing Company fails to do something sensational. The sensations caused by that institution seem to be pleasurable ones, for there is a congregation before the doors at 86 and 88 Bowery, when the store is opened in the morning, waiting to experience that sensation, and there is a constantly coming and going procession of people on the same errand all the day long. Just now the sensation consists of $1.50 suits of clothing for $0.50—dress suits, business suits and Sunday parade suits. Then they can the climax with a $2.50 derby hat for $1.00. The London & Liverpool frankly admit that it is a forced sale, the result of dull times and over stock.

Watches Nearly Secured.

An easy way to secure a gold watch of a standard make is to join a watch club gotten up by responsible parties, or to purchase one on the installment plan from a watch company of acknowledged integrity. The Mutual Watch Company of 205 Broadway, are one of the philanthropists noted above. They sell a $10 gold watch with an Elgin or Waltham movement for $25, on a payment of a small amount down and a dollar weekly thereafter, and guarantee their goods are exactly as represented.

CURIOUS FAMILY HISTORY.

Mrs. Cook Got Her Father's Naturalization Papers After His Death.

An interesting bit of family history was brought to light in Clerk Richard's office yesterday, according to the Davenport (Ia.) Gazette. Mrs. A. M. Cook presented the incomplete naturalization papers of her father, desiring their completion, as she has a claim against the United States Government, and her father is required by law that she take out naturalization papers, she having been born in England.

Her father, Jasper Fletcher, took out his first papers in Cambridge, Ill., in 1841, but before taking out his second papers he started overland for California, and while on the way, the party was attacked by Indians.

The mother was killed, and the father, Mrs. Cook, then Mary Fletcher, a girl of fourteen, and her two-year-old sister were taken prisoners.

Mr. Fletcher afterwards escaped, the elder daughter's liberty was bought, while the youngest sister, if alive, is still a captive of the Indians.

The father went to Salt Lake City, where he died, and the mother and sister were never taken out. So Mrs. Cook got a completion of her father's papers yesterday, and this makes her a naturalized citizen.

NEW CLASS OF BOAT CREWS.

Capt. Connell Wants a Branch Between Juniors and Seniors.

Gossip About Sports, Their Sayings and Doings.

Capt. Frank Connell, of the Danmore Rowing Club, thinks it would stimulate interest among oarsmen if an intermediate eight-oared race could be instituted, meaning by intermediate a class between the junior and senior eight-oared crew. His idea is that the senior eight should be the representative crews. Next should come the intermediate, who may have won the junior-eight event, and lastly the junior eight, who have never won a race. According to the present method of classification, the eight which win the junior events immediately become seniors, although they may be comparatively green crews and by no means a match for the senior crews of other clubs. If all the winners of the junior eight events, who have never tried to row in the senior events were to meet in an intermediate event it would serve as an incentive for them to continue rowing. Most of them have disbanded and never think of rowing as crews, because they are so ridiculously small. Capt. Connell would like to see all the winners of the junior eight event in the past few years measure oars in the coming Long Island regatta. At least, as a pair, the two winners of the junior eight event on the Harlem and Passaic Memorial Day could certainly meet in the Long Island regatta.

Sunday after next there will be a match race between the junior eight of the Danmore Club, and a picked eight, to test the status of the juniors. The picked crew will be made up of clubless members.

Herbert Shipman, Columbia's sprinter, who came in and second in the hundred yards at the Columbia College games, has a brother who, when he gets a little older, promises to be a wonderfully fast short-distance man.

If the famous Bradford eight-oared crew comes up to their reputation they should win the senior event of the Harlem regatta. Their most powerful rivals will probably be the Atlanta seniors of the Columbia College Freshman crew, since it is agreed that the champion Atlanta eight is to enter the Passaic regatta.

The Columbia Freshman eight is rowing in fine style. The crew is out every evening and fairly drowns the water with their oars. Coach W. B. Peet is always close beside them in a steam launch. They certainly ought to make a basket showing Memorial Day.

The average weight of the Danmore junior eight is 145 pounds, the same as the champion Atlanta.

The New York Athletic Club junior eight is reported to be something exceedingly fine. They are said to have done some wonderful work this Spring at Travers Island.

Members of the Wayne Athletic Club are trying to bring about a match between Sheridan and Vogellus, 116-pound men of the world. There is great rivalry between the two boxers, despite the fact that at the Club's recent competition Sheridan was declared the winner over Vogellus. The Club is willing to put up a $100 trophy for the two to fight for.

Paddy McGuigan, the Jersey light-weight, has offered Austin Gibbons, of Paterson, $500 if he will stand before him six rounds on the occasion of McGuigan's benefit, May 23.

Both Paddy McBride and Jimmy Lynch have commenced strict training for their mill for $500 a side and an added purse.

The open tournament of the New York Tennis Club commences June 4, and is being eagerly anticipated by the many devotees of lawn tennis in this city.

The enterprising Stuyvesant Athletic Club, of Harlem, have added to their repertoire, so to speak. They have organized a good nine and are ready to accept challenge from teams of like calibre to theirs.

Rich, Windle, Davis, Campbell and Schmeider are a few of the bicyclists who will meet in the games of the Eastern Athletic Club at the Berkeley Oval. The games commence at 2.30 p. m.

The great two-year-old filly Sunol, purchased by Robert Bonner last winter from Senator I. and Marford, of the New York way East. Every precaution is being taken to insure an absolutely safe transit, making the journey necessary very slow.

Columbia College has definitely decided to put no Varsity crew on the water this year, and has withdrawn from the proposed triangular race with Cornell and the University of Pennsylvania. Her withdrawal has been arranged in a manner perfectly satisfactory to her rivals. The crew will disband. Lack of time to give to practice is the cause of its disbandment.

To-morrow the Staten Island Cricket Club will play R. A. Young's eleven at Livingston, N. Y. The game commences at 3.30 p. m.

NO USE FOR UNDERTAKERS.

Eastern Immigration of that Kind Discouraged by the "Arizona Kicker."

The following is quoted by the Detroit Free Press from the last issue of the Arizona Kicker:

"Mr. England Undertaker."—We would not advise you to come West under the idea that you can make a cart-load of money in your business in a year or two. There are not only plenty of undertakers on this way, but owing to certain peculiarities the business is not as flourishing as it might be.

Our people don't make much of funerals. The idea is that after a man is dead he isn't good for much, and it's wonderful how cheap you can cut the figures if you so desire. For instance, the last man we shot figured on us as follows:

Drinks for coroner's jury..... 00
Box for remains..... 15
Shooting gear..... 15
Head shot..... 15
Services of drag..... 10
Total..... $2.50

You can't get things much below this figure, while the people here won't stand much of a raise on it. We'd like your society and we'd like your aid to help build up the town, but when you ask us for facts and figures we have got to give the man to you straight.

Obeying Instructions.

[From the Stephenson Leader.]

Farmer Jenkins—I want that barrel o' flour and that tub o' butter, the three hams, them potatoes and turnips and the rest o' that grub.

Widow Simpkins—Land o' goodness! Now what do you want o' them things?

Farmer Jenkins—Wal, you see how I'm accout'ed of your late husband's will, and the judge says I must proceed at once to carry out the provisions.

Died with His Mouth Open.

[From Judge.]

Found on a tombstone in a cemetery near a neighboring city:

"Here lies the body of Gentleman Jack Smith, who was for over thirty years the efficient and honored treasurer of the Park Avenue Theatre. These his dying words will always be remembered: 'This ticket's a d.'"

At the Dime Museum.

[From Judge.]

Victor St. Helms challenged—You know you were shot at four or five times last afternoon.

CHILDREN CHOOSE GOLDEN ROD.

Choice of the Public Schools of this City for a State Flower.

Golden rod is the choice of this city for a State flower. That is what the children of the public schools have decided by their vote, and as they are our coming rulers their decision will doubtless be accepted as final.

There were 122,085 votes cast in this city, and 1,035 flowers were voted for. For the pretty golden rod 26,120 children voted. The rose was second, with 22,437, and the violet third, with 19,051. The modest little daisy had 17,180 admirers, while the stately lily was nearly 10,000 behind. Its total vote being 7,412. Then came nearly all the representatives of the floral world, with a scattering vote numbering 432.

It was a popular election, with no attempt to repeat or stuff the ballot boxes, and the result is generally acceptable.

The petition to the Case of Russia, prepared by the Russian Exile Petition Association, which asks for reforms in the Russian exile system, is being circulated at present among the laboring classes. The Association wants 1,000,000 subscribers to its address.

President Thomas J. Curran, of the Boiler-Makers' National Union, announced yesterday that the strike of the riveters at the Hendon & Robbins' Basin Iron Works, at Westchester, N. Y., is ended, as the firm acceded to the Union's terms.

The cigar-makers of John W. Love, East Twenty-fourth street and First avenue, who are to be striked, were given time till next Monday. The Union will provide for them and rent their quarters for the strike.

The Central Labor Union of Newark, N. J., has asked the New York building trades to prevent stonecutters from going to Elizabethtown, where there is a strike on. Fairbank's Church.

Painters' Union No. 2, of Brooklyn, has made an agreement with Fairbank's Church, to prevent stonecutters from going to Elizabethtown, where there is a strike on. Fairbank's Church.

The Executive Board of the United Planemakers in this city to engage agents to come to Philadelphia. The striking clockmakers, at whose headquarters one of those agents appeared yesterday, sent him about his business.

The United Planemakers of the United States and Canada will hold their annual convention on next Monday at the Ashland House, Twenty-fourth street and Fourth avenue. In the evening a banquet will take place to welcome the delegates.

The clock-makers of Cleveland, Baltimore, Cincinnati, Boston, Philadelphia and Chicago, have applied for advice and organizers from the clock-makers' Union in this city to assist them in forming unions at these places.

The Farmers' Alliance advises mechanics and laborers to stay away from Texas, Colorado, South Dakota, Illinois, Wisconsin, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Kentucky, and Washington, D. C., as no work to be had in these States. Jobs must be plentiful, and wages are low.

A request of Ross S. Jacoby, East Fifty-second street, for a committee from his striking cigar-makers has been refused by the Union. The information that no committee would be sent unless willing to accede to the demands of the strikers.

The Newark Trades' Assembly has decided to disband, and the funds, amounting to about $100, have been divided among the few remaining members. The organization which at one time was the strongest central body of its kind in New Jersey, has been destroyed because its leaders dabbled in politics.

An application from the Polish-speaking workmen of Rose McKnight for permission to form a union of their own has been denied by Cement Laborers' Union No. 1, as they are of the opinion that the Polish should learn the language of this country, when they would not need a separate organization.

The representatives of ten firms of Brooklyn lumber dealers held a conference yesterday in regard to the boycott placed upon Great Austin & Co., by the Carpenters and Wood Workers' Union for refusing to grant the eight-hour day. It was agreed not to concede the demands of the union, and waiting delegate R. M. Hoppers, to whom the matter was referred, will now begin to drag out.

At the last meeting of the Journeymen Barbers' Union, President Fisher proposed to allow the houses an additional hour on Wednesday, from 8 to 9 p. m., but to request them to close at noon on Sunday during the next month. Mar 10th September. The proposition was laid upon the table, but it will be all but certain that it will be adopted, asking them to join. The address was given that there are over one thousand barber shops in New York City where non-union men are employed.

COULD TAKE CARE OF HIMSELF.

A Tiny Traveller Who Astonished an Albany Conductor.

Among the many strange personages that passed through the Union Depot during the week was a precocious female six years of age, says the Albany Argus. The child was unique in appearance and conversation.

Armed with a bag almost as large as herself and two bundles she had travelled from Missouri to a place far into the State of Maine.

"Hurry up," said the conductor, who was depositing his infantile passenger and her chattels in the depot to wait for the next-bound train.

"Get a seat on 'P' piped the small one; 'ain't I travelin' fast enough for you?"

And she toddled into the station with a self-possession that was remarkable.

Engaging her in conversation, she said that she had left her father in the South. He had drunk stuff from a big, black bottle, and he was a drunkard. She couldn't stand it any longer and was going up in Maine to live with her grandmother.

She was a child of extraordinary keenness and as clever as could be. She was dressed plainly, but in a quaint fashion for her years, and left, bag and baggage, for her new home as happy as a lark.

Well Connected.

[From Judge.]

"You may not know, sir," remarked Thirity Blossom, the tramp, to the man who kicked him off the front porch. "that I am related to the Car of Russia?"

"I don't care who you are related to, Git!"

"I go; and in that I prove my connection with majesty. I'm a rosin' off."

A Curious Fact.

[From Judge.]

"I tell you, George, there isn't much pie in a convict's life."

No, but he gets his deserts just the same.

Didn't Have a Chance.

[From Judge.]

Magistrate—What, sir, you arrived here this morning by the early train, and half an hour later you were arrested for stealing?

HE HANDLES ALL THE SILVER.

A Talk with William George Dennis, of the Hotel Victoria.

William George Dennis handles all the silverware in the Hotel Victoria, where Grever Cleveland resided immediately after his retirement from the Presidency. He lives at 320 East 37th st. Dennis is an Englishman and comes from Maidenhead, near London. Mr. Dennis is an interview with a reporter the other evening, told him the following story:

WM. GEORGE DENNIS, 320 EAST 37TH ST.

"I thought very often as I would better off if I could commit suicide."

"I had catarrh ever since I was 7 or 8 years old and I thought it about as bad as any one could have it. I had catarrh in the hand. I had a running in the hand. I had a discharge from the ear of yellow matter. I suffered with the lightest touch in the hand. I had a discharge from my head and in my forehead. I felt miserable. My nose was stuffed. I had no sleep, and then on the other, I suffered with pain in my legs and back, and a bad feeling. I had no ambition, and I would go out to Central Park for a walk. I would want to come back right away. Nothing would stop me."

"I had ringing noises in my ears, and a dropping back of muscles in my throat. When I would sleep down I would get dizzy. My memory was poor, so that I could not remember anything. I was nervous and spitting phlegm all the time and I didn't sleep a wink."

"This was the condition I was in when I went to Doctors McCoy and Wildman on the eighth day of last February. Under their treatment I began to improve. I went to the hospital for a month, but the treatment I got there did not do me a bit of good. Under Doctors McCoy and Wildman's treatment I feel now as if I had begun a new life. I feel happy now. I feel that life is worth living. I feel very thankful to Doctors McCoy and Wildman for the wonderful treatment I have received from them. I feel almost entirely well now. I don't have any more pains now in my head or my back or legs. My nose is perfectly free. There is no discharge from my ear any more and I am not stuffed. I have no sleep, and I feel better, and there is no dropping back in my throat, and I am not nervous and spitting all the time. Yes, I feel very thankful to Doctors McCoy and Wildman for the wonderful treatment I have received from them."
